NURSING FACULTY OPPORTUNITY
Distinguished Professor

The Duke University School of Nursing (DUSON) invites applications from senior nurse scientists with a consistent history of NIH funding over a sustained period of time demonstrating a well-established program of research. Successful candidates will have a PhD or DNSc and will be a highly accomplished federally-funded nurse researcher with evidence of strong potential for continued funding. Teaching contributions and research mentorship are expected as are continued research productivity and scholarly contributions. Eligible candidates must currently be at the rank of professor and eligible for appointment at the rank of tenured Distinguished Professor at Duke University.

DUSON has identified four focus areas of research excellence. These areas include Clinical Innovation, Population Health and Chronic Illness, Precision Health, and Methods and Analytics. They provide a platform for building research profiles and connectivity within a scientific community. As a leader among top research-intensive nursing schools, DUSON was ranked fourth among schools receiving funding from the National Institutes of Health (NIH) in 2016. In 2016 DUSON has $6.07 million in faculty research funding. There are currently 16 NIH funded grants with nine RO-1 awards. In addition there are 20 non-NIH funded grants plus 15 active faculty collaborative grants with researchers outside DUSON.

The Duke Nursing community includes approximately 90 full-time faculty members, over 120 staff members and approximately 1,000 students. The School offers four degree programs: ABSN, MSN, DNP and PhD. More information on the School and the programs can be found at nursing.duke.edu. Duke University offers an unusually rich, interdisciplinary environment conducive to teaching, practice, and research across the undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools (Nursing, Medicine, Divinity, Business, Law, Engineering, Environment and Public Policy) and various sponsored institutes.

Duke is rated by its employees as one of the best places to work in the Triangle area and offers a competitive salary and benefits package, and DUSON was ranked #4 in the most recent U.S. News and World Report rankings of graduate nursing programs.

Applications are currently being accepted for this position and will be accepted until the position is filled. Interested individuals should email a curriculum vitae and cover letter detailing their specific teaching and clinical experience, areas of scholarship and service, and commitment to diversity with this opportunity, along with the names and contact information for three references to Duke University School of Nursing, Attn: Director, Faculty Affairs, to sonfacul@dm.duke.edu. Individuals from under-represented groups are encouraged to apply.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.