Nursing Faculty Opportunity
Psychiatric Nursing

The Duke University School of Nursing invites applications for a full-time faculty position that will have teaching responsibilities within its accelerated ABSN and MSN Programs. The successful candidate for this position will have an earned doctoral degree in nursing, or a closely related field. For candidates with a doctoral degree in a closely related field, a master’s degree in nursing is required. Certification as a Psychiatric Nurse Practitioner or as a Clinical Nurse Specialist in psychiatric nursing is required. Expertise in psychiatric nursing is required. Expertise in an additional specialty area of nursing is preferred to support teaching in an integrated ABSN curriculum. Well qualified candidates will have advanced education in psychiatric nursing and demonstrate a commitment to teaching and practice. Experience in nursing education is highly desirable and an appreciation for the linkages between education, practice, research and service is strongly preferred. Candidates will also show evidence of a developed program of scholarship. Eligibility for licensure as a registered nurse in North Carolina is required. Faculty appointments will be made at the Assistant, Associate or Professor level on Track I (a tenure earning) or Track II (a non-tenure earning practice/clinical track), as determined by the candidate’s academic experience and career goals.

The Duke Nursing community includes 86 full-time faculty members, over 120 staff members and approximately 1,000 students. The School offers four degree programs: ABSN, MSN, DNP and PhD. More information on the School and the programs can be found at nursing.duke.edu. Duke University offers an unusually rich, interdisciplinary environment conducive to teaching, practice, and research across the undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools (Nursing, Medicine, Divinity, Business, Law, Engineering, Environment and Policy) and various sponsored institutes. Duke is rated by its employees as one of the best places to work in the Triangle area and offers a competitive salary and benefits package, and the Duke University School of Nursing was ranked #5 in the most recent U.S. News and World Report rankings of graduate nursing programs and #9 among Schools of Nursing receiving NIH funding in 2015.

Applications are currently being accepted for this position and will be accepted until the position is filled. Interested individuals should email a curriculum vitae and cover letter detailing their specific teaching and clinical experience, areas of scholarship and service, and commitment to diversity with this opportunity, along with the names and contact information for three references to Duke University School of Nursing, Attn: Director, Faculty Affairs, to sonfacul@dm.duke.edu. Individuals from under-represented groups are encouraged to apply.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.