NURSING FACULTY OPPORTUNITY
VANAP-GE Program Adult-Gerontology Primary Care or Family Nurse Practitioner Position
(2 Positions Available)

The Duke University School of Nursing (DUSON) invites applications from doctorally prepared candidates for a full-time faculty position with primary teaching responsibilities within the School’s Master of Science in Nursing program. Well qualified candidates will be certified as an Adult-Gerontology Primary Care or Family Nurse Practitioner, clinically experienced, demonstrate a commitment to teaching and practice, and be eligible for approval to practice as a Nurse Practitioner in North Carolina. This faculty member will support a new Veterans Administration Nursing Academic Partnership in Graduate Education (VANAP-GE) program which is being developed as a partnership between the Durham VA Medical Center and DUSON. This program will incorporate a veteran-centric curriculum within the existing Adult/Gero Nurse Practitioner component of the MSN program and will also work with a faculty team to develop the curriculum and establish a post graduate Adult/Gero primary care Residency program.

Candidates will have a minimum of one year of NP practice within the past five years. Two to three years experience teaching at the graduate level and experiences teaching and caring for diverse adult/gerontology populations are desirable. Candidates will also show evidence of a developed program of scholarship. Preference will be given to candidates with demonstrated commitment and expertise related to veteran’s health. Faculty appointment for this position will be made at the Assistant or Associate Professor level on Track II (a non-tenure earning practice/clinical track), depending on the candidate’s qualifications. It is required that the individual become credentialed and practice as an NP at the Durham VA Medical Center.

The Duke Nursing community includes 86 full-time faculty members, over 120 staff members and approximately 1,000 students. The School offers four degree programs: ABSN, MSN, DNP and PhD. More information on the School and the programs can be found at nursing.duke.edu. Duke University offers an unusually rich, interdisciplinary environment conducive to teaching, practice, and research across the undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools (Nursing, Medicine, Divinity, Business, Law, Engineering, Environment and Policy) and various sponsored institutes. Duke is rated by its employees as one of the best places to work in the Triangle area and offers a competitive salary and benefits package, and the Duke University School of Nursing was ranked #5 in the most recent U.S. News and World Report rankings of graduate nursing programs and #9 among Schools of Nursing receiving NIH funding in 2015.

Applications are due by March 1, 2016. Two positions are available. One position has a targeted start date of May, 2016; the second position has a targeted start date of July, 2016. Interested individuals should email a curriculum vitae and cover letter detailing their fit (specific teaching and clinical experience, areas of scholarship and service and commitment to diversity) with this opportunity, along with the names and contact information for three references to Duke University School of Nursing, Attn: Director, Faculty Affairs, to sonfacul@dm.duke.edu. Individuals from under-represented groups are encouraged to apply.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual’s age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.