

The Male Pediatric Nurse Experience

A Special DAAMN Event

You know the statistics: Only about 10% of nurses are male. Even fewer are in peds. But 51% of kids are male.

We need more men in pediatric nursing.

Join Karin Reuter-Rice, PhD, CPNP-AC, FCCM, FAAN, Institute of Pediatric Nursing (IPN) member and nationally renowned Duke Associate Professor, for an engaging panel presentation. First learn about IPN's new Campaign for Pediatric Nursing and its focus on gender and cultural diversity. Then hear stories and advice from male pediatric nurses in different stages of their careers. Bring your questions for this exciting event!

Thursday, April 21

5:00 PM

Room 1011

Duke University School of Nursing

The IPN is a standing committee of the Pediatric Nursing Certification Board. Its goals are to promote awareness of the specialty to students and families, strengthen peds nursing education, and leverage collective expertise to support child health. Learn more about the IPN at www.ipedsnursing.org.

Man, we need to talk.

Only about 10% of nurses are male, but 51% of us kids are male.

We need more men in pediatric nursing.

Don't get us wrong — female nurses are awesome — but it would be great to get care from male nurses more often.

Be that role model we can look up to who understands what it's like to be a guy.

Be there for us.

Be a pediatric nurse.
