

NURSING FACULTY OPPORTUNITY
Adult Health Advanced Practice Nurse

The Duke University School of Nursing (DUSON) invites applications from doctorally-prepared candidates for a full-time faculty position with primary teaching responsibilities within the School's Accelerated Bachelors of Science and Master of Science in Nursing programs. Well-qualified candidates will be certified as an advanced practice nurse with expertise in Adult/Gerontology or Family Health, clinically experienced, demonstrate a commitment to teaching and practice, and be eligible for approval to practice as a Nurse Practitioner in North Carolina. Primary teaching responsibilities will include physical assessment, foundational skills, and adult primary care. Advanced nursing practice in an innovative interprofessional clinic may also be available to qualified candidates. Preferred candidates will be prepared to serve as a chairperson on DNP Projects and/or PhD Dissertation committees. This is an on campus position.

Candidates will have a minimum of one year of experience as an advanced practice nurse within the past five years. Background in Adult/Gerontology and/or Family Health is required. Two to three years of experience teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate level is desirable. Candidates will also show evidence of a developing program of scholarship. Faculty appointment for this position will be made at the Assistant or Associate Professor level on Track II (a non-tenure earning practice/clinical track) depending on candidate's qualifications.

The Duke Nursing community includes nearly 90 full-time faculty members, over 120 staff members and approximately 1,000 students. The School offers four degree programs: ABSN, MSN, DNP and PhD. More information on the School and the programs can be found at nursing.duke.edu. Duke University offers an unusually rich, interdisciplinary environment conducive to teaching, practice, and research across the undergraduate, graduate, and professional schools (Nursing, Medicine, Divinity, Business, Law, Engineering, Environment and Policy) and various sponsored institutes. Duke is rated by its employees as one of the best places to work in the Triangle area and offers a competitive salary and benefits package, and the Duke University School of Nursing was ranked #1 in the most recent U.S. News and World Report rankings of graduate nursing programs and #4 among Schools of Nursing receiving NIH funding in 2016.

Applications are due by July 1, 2017 and the position will remain open until filled. Interested individuals should email a curriculum vitae and cover letter detailing their specific teaching and clinical experience, areas of scholarship and service, and commitment to diversity with this opportunity, along with the names and contact information for three references to Duke University School of Nursing, Attn: Director, Faculty Affairs, to sonfacul@dm.duke.edu. Individuals from under-represented groups are encouraged to apply.

Duke University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer committed to providing employment opportunity without regard to an individual's age, color, disability, genetic information, gender, gender identity, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran status.