

Duke University School of Nursing

Institute for Educational Excellence

The Duke University School of Nursing's Institute for Educational Excellence is currently accepting abstract submissions for podium/oral presentations at the 8th annual Pursuing Radical Transformation Conference. This year our focus is on Health Professions Education. The conference will take place on March 22 - 23, 2018 at the Duke University School of Nursing in Durham, North Carolina. Each podium/oral presentation will be 45 minutes, that we expect will include at least 10 minutes of dialogue with participants.

ABSTRACTS

Abstracts may describe completed projects/initiatives or those currently underway, and should address creative teaching strategies, new assessment methods, course and curriculum initiatives, innovations related to student engagement or success, pedagogical research studies, scholarly projects related to health professions education, or any other topics that would be of interest to educators in any or all types of health professions programs.

FORMAT

The online abstract submission format provides word-limited sections to address the following areas:

1. Title
2. Purpose or Goal of the project/initiative
3. Background or Summary of why this project/initiative is important to nursing education
4. Method of the research study or Description of the strategies used to develop/implement the project/initiative
5. Results ... Key research study findings or Description of what was learned through the project/initiative
6. Conclusions and Implications for Health Professions Education

The abstract must not contain any identifying information to allow for a blind review.

SUBMISSION

Abstracts are to be submitted online through the following link:
